15. WAIVER OF BREACH. Failure to declare a breach or the actual waiver of any particular breach of the Contract or its material or nonmaterial terms by either party shall not operate as a waiver by such party of any of its rights or remedies as to any other breach.
16. SEVERABILITY. If any provision contained in this Contract is held to be unenforceable by a court of law or equity, this Contract shall be construed as if such provision did not exist and the non-enforceability of such provision shall not be held to render any other provision or provisions of this Contract unenforceable.
17. ASSIGNMENT/DELEGATION. Pro Bono Counsel shall neither assign, transfer nor delegate any rights, obligations nor duties under this Contract without the prior written consent of the State.
18. STATE OWNERSHIP OF PROPRIETARY INFORMATION. Any data or information provided by the State to Pro Bono Counsel and any documents or materials provided by the State to Pro Bono Counsel during this Contract ("State Materials") shall be and remain the exclusive property of the State and all such State Materials shall be delivered into State possession by Pro Bono Counsel upon completion, termination, or cancellation of this Contract.

Pro Bono Counsel may label specific parts of an individual document as "attorney-client privileged" or "confidential." The failure to so label any document that is released by the State shall constitute a complete waiver of any and all claims for damages caused by any release of the records.
20. PRODUCTION OF CLIENT FILE. At the termination of this Contract, in the event that the Contracting Agency asks for a copy of the Client File not already in its possession, the Contracting Agency agrees that it will be given a single electronic copy, free of charge, of the Client File, which consists of: communications between Pro Bono Counsel and Contracting Agency, or with opposing counsel, work product resulting from the Contract, and documents received by Pro bono Counsel from the Contracting Agency. The Client File shall also include any original documents that Pro Bono Counsel has received from the Contracting Agency, which shall be returned. By this agreement, the Contracting Agency expressly acknowledges that it will not be provided any additional materials beyond the Client File as described above and it waives any right to receive any such materials.

- 23. GOVERNING LAW: JURISDICTION. This Contract and the rights and obligations of the parties hereto shall be governed by, and construed according to, the laws of the State of Nevada, without giving effect to any principle of conflict-of-law that would require the application of the law of any other jurisdiction. The parties consent to the exclusive jurisdiction of and venue in the First Judicial District Court, Carson City, Nevada for enforcement of this Contract, and consent to personal jurisdiction in such court for any action or proceeding arising out of this Contract.
- 24. ENTIRE CONTRACT AND MODIFICATION. This Contract and its integrated attachment(s) constitute the entire agreement of the parties and as such are intended to be the complete and exclusive statement of the promises, representations, negotiations, discussions, and other agreements that may have been made in connection with the subject matter hereof. Unless otherwise expressly authorized by the terms of this Contract, no modification or amendment to this Contract shall be binding upon the parties unless the same is in writing and signed by the respective parties hereto and approved by the Office of the Attorney General. This Contract, and any amendments, may be executed in counterparts.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the parties hereto have caused this Contract to be signed and intend to be legally bound thereby.

I. SCOPE OF WORK

Public Rights Project (“PRP” or “Pro Bono Counsel”) is retained by the State of Nevada (“State”), by and through the Office of the Attorney General (“OAG”), to provide pro bono legal services to the Nevada Secretary of State regarding the 2024 election and any related matters.

All legal services shall be provided in cooperation and coordination with the OAG pursuant to NRS 228.110. PRP shall provide strictly legal services to the Nevada Secretary of State in connection with the Contract. The State is not relying on PRP for any services other than legal services.

The State’s agreement with PRP is non-exclusive. The State may engage other counsel, paid or pro bono, for legal services regarding the 2024 election and any related matters.

The State will not pay for any costs or expenses incurred by PRP in the provision of legal services to the State.

II. PRO BONO COUNSEL GUIDELINES AND PROCEDURES

A. Introduction

The OAG is pleased that PRP has agreed to provide pro bono legal services to the Nevada Secretary of State pursuant to NRS 228.112–228.1127. See generally Contract for Pro Bono Legal Services (“Contract”). The following are Pro Bono Counsel Guidelines and Procedures (“Guidelines”) for providing pro bono legal services to the State.

B. Costs & Expenses

The relationship between a client and law firm must be a somewhat flexible one in order to respond to the idiosyncrasies of each matter in a manner that will best serve the client’s goals. The high cost of modern legal and expert services in both time and money requires that the relationship have a basic structure that is understood by both client and the law firm. As explained in the State Administrative Manual (“SAM”), “[i]t is the policy of the State of Nevada to limit and monitor costs associated with the hiring of professional and expert services.” SAM § 0325 (State Agencies, Boards, and Commissions with Independent Contracts for Outside Legal or Professional Services).¹ The parties have agreed that PRP will provide legal services at no cost to the State and the State will not reimburse PRP for any costs or expenses; however, the principal underlying SAM § 0325 is still applicable as the State may directly incur costs or expenses in the matter that is the subject of the Contract.

The OAG is willing to discuss deviations from these Guidelines if such deviations will further the chances for success in the matter or will prevent an unduly harsh financial burden on PRP. The OAG must require, however, that any such deviation be approved by the OAG in advance.

C. Origination of Legal Work

All legal work related to the matter for which PRP has been engaged will originate through the OAG. PRP must not seek or accept direction for any new matters except through the OAG.

D. General Conduct and Communications

The matter for which you have been retained will be supervised by the OAG's General Counsel and First Assistant Attorney General with the First Assistant Attorney General assigned as the OAG's primary contact. The OAG has found it helpful to have one attorney designated as PRP's principal contact with the First Assistant Attorney General. That "lead counsel" will work with the First Assistant Attorney General to decide what tasks need to be undertaken.

Unless other arrangements are agreed in advance, all pleadings, motions, and other papers prepared by PRP should be submitted to the First Assistant Attorney General in draft form for review and comment before servicing upon other parties or filing with the court. Please allow the First Assistant Attorney General sufficient time for review, generally two-to-three working days absent emergency circumstances.

All communications between PRP and the OAG and/or Secretary of State's Office shall be marked "Confidential / Attorney-Client Privileged." All work product of PRP shall be marked "Confidential / Privileged / Attorney Work Product" on each page.

All communications by PRP with State personnel should be made through the First Assistant Attorney General since this will allow for better coordination and may help to hold down expenses. On occasion, it may be necessary to communicate directly with State personnel to obtain factual or technical information. Any such contacts may be made only with the prior approval of the First Assistant Attorney General. It is the responsibility of PRP to advise the First Assistant Attorney General as soon as practicable of the nature and content of any direct communications. Copies of all correspondence and documents sent to State personnel must be sent contemporaneously to the First Assistant Attorney General.

It may be necessary on occasion for non-legal State personnel or for certain third parties (e.g., attorneys representing our insurers) to contact PRP directly. It may not always be possible for the First Assistant Attorney General to participate in such communications. Accordingly, the OAG expects PRP to extend to such individuals the same professional courtesies that you would extend to a member of the OAG. However, PRP should undertake projects, research, and execution of strategy only upon the direction of the First Assistant Attorney General.

While PRP will not discuss this representation without the OAG's written approval, the OAG acknowledges that PRP conducts research and communications on a broad range of democracy and voting-related issues. PRP may communicate to third parties including the public about such issues, including issues related to the subject matter of this representation, and may communicate publicly available information regarding the matter for which the State has engaged PRP. This will be done consistent with PRP's ethical obligations.

Notification of the OAG Regarding Significant Changes or Developments: PRP must notify and consult with the OAG promptly regarding all significant developments related to the legal services provided under this contract or any potential new legal matters. SAM § 0325(1). Should litigation involving potential liability for the State be threatened, commence, or significantly change during the term of this contract, PRP must immediately inform the OAG in writing. Id.

Work Product the Property of the State: All work product of PRP resulting from the Contract are the exclusive property of the State. SAM § 0325(3). Upon completion, termination, or cancellation of the Contract, PRP will surrender originals of all documents, including any work product in progress or draft form, objects, or other tangible items related to the work to the OAG. Contract §§ 8(B)(3), 18, 20. Except as otherwise require by law, the OAG agrees that work product does not include internal PRP communications, research, notes, or documents related to staffing. The OAG agrees that "work product" as that term is used in SAM § 0325 does not include internal PRP communications, internal documents related to staffing, research, or notes, and therefore these items will not be provided to the OAG as part of the Client File.

E. Conflicts of Interest

Conflicts of interest must be disclosed to the OAG and waived in writing prior to beginning a matter. SAM § 0325(4). Prior to being retained, the OAG expects PRP to investigate and resolve any potential conflicts of interest, including any "issue" conflicts of a more philosophic or policy-driven basis that may compromise the position(s) taken by the State. The OAG expects PRP to promptly discuss these issues with General Counsel and the OAG will provide you with any additional information, if needed.

PRP must be sensitive both to direct conflicts of interest that representation of the State and other clients poses, and to the less direct, but nevertheless serious, conflicts that may arise from the PRP's advocacy, on behalf of other clients, of positions conflicting with important State interests. Prior to engagement, PRP should carefully review whether any conflicts of either type exist and, if so, bring those conflicts to General Counsel's attention.

Although issue conflicts may not necessarily result in a disqualification of PRP, the OAG expects to be consulted before PRP accepts an engagement that will require the firm to advocate a position that may be adverse to a State legal interest or otherwise prejudicial to the State's interests. The OAG in its sole discretion will, after consultation with PRP, determine whether an impermissible State conflict exists, or whether other circumstances exist that would undermine the public's confidence if your representation continued. PRP's acceptance of an engagement on a matter without written disclosure of any conflicts constitutes PRP's representation that it has conducted an appropriate conflict check and no conflict exists.

As the representation continues, the OAG expects that PRP will bring to General Counsel's immediate attention any change in the conflict review or inform the General Counsel of any activity which might be viewed as, or trigger, a conflict of interest.

F. Ethical Obligations and Rules of Professional Conduct

These Guidelines are not intended to interfere with PRP's ethical obligations, including the obligation to exercise independent legal judgment during the course of the representation, or to conflict with applicable federal or state laws, court rules, administrative rules, etc. At all times, PRP will provide professional legal advice and services at the highest level expected of law firms providing legal services in Nevada and the representation will be performed in a professional manner consistent with the professional rules governing the legal profession. See Contract § 14.

During the course of the representation, there may be issues that raise questions about PRP's duties under the rules of professional conduct that apply to lawyers. These might include, e.g., conflict of interest issues, and could even include issues raised because of a dispute between PRP and the OAG over the handling of this matter. Normally when such issues arise, PRP would seek the advice of their counsel. Consistent with the rulings of courts in certain jurisdictions, PRP considers such consultations to be attorney-client privileged conversations between PRP personnel and PRP counsel. However, there have been judicial decisions indicating that, under some circumstances, such conversations involve a conflict of interest between the client and PRP and that the consultation between PRP personnel and counsel may not be privileged, unless PRP either withdraws from the representation of the client or obtain the client's consent to consult on a privileged basis with PRP counsel. PRP believes that, in the event legal ethics or professional responsibility issues arise during a representation, both the clients' and PRP's interests are served when PRP receive expert analysis.

Accordingly, the OAG agrees that if PRP determine in their own discretion during the representation that it is appropriate to consult with PRP counsel, PRP has the OAG's consent to do so on a privileged basis despite any alleged conflict of interest. The OAG further agrees that PRP continuing the representation at the time of such consultation shall not thereby waive or otherwise limit any attorney-client privilege that PRP has regarding the confidentiality of their communications with their counsel.

G. Staffing

The State expects that staffing levels will be appropriate for the complexity of the issues and PRP's expertise.

1. Attorneys

The OAG requires that one experienced lawyer have ultimate responsibility for staffing and other decisions for the matter. The lead counsel at the firm must identify, in advance, any other lawyers who will be working on the case and explain the role of each. Lead counsel should always be aware of who is working on the matter, personally approving all assignments, and should also be aware at all times of what work is being done and how much time is being spent. Lead counsel should ensure that all work is useful and done efficiently. Lead counsel is expected to review and be able to explain all of PRP's time entries. Further, Lead counsel must ensure that any other lawyers who work on the case are informed of and follow these Guidelines.

Both parties recognize that the appointment of PRP is personal in nature and does not extend to any law firm that PRP is associated with, a partner of, or for which PRP serves as "of counsel."

2. Paralegals or Other Personnel

The appropriate use of paralegals or other personnel employed by PRP is encouraged. However, PRP must consult with General Counsel in advance before utilizing personnel who are not PRP employees, such as contract lawyers or experts.

H. Billing Requirements

1. Hourly Billing Increments

All time records must represent the actual time required to perform the task or activity and must be kept in time increments of 1/10th of an hour or 6 minutes. NRS 228.1124(1).

I. Media Requests and Public Relations

Any media inquiry relating to the State, including the State's relationship with PRP, should be referred to the First Assistant Attorney General immediately. PRP should not make statements to the media regarding the State, OAG, Secretary of State, or the matter which is the subject of the Contract without securing advanced approval.

The State is aware that many law firms engage in comprehensive marketing. The State does not permit PRP to advertise or promote the fact of your relationship with the State in your marketing efforts unless the OAG specifically agrees otherwise.

J. Closing

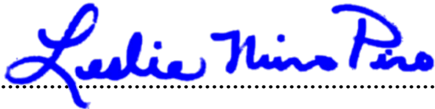

The OAG continually reviews and updates these Guidelines and welcomes any suggestions PRP may have to limit and control costs while providing exceptional legal representation. Please acknowledge below the receipt and circulation of the Guidelines.

Please review these Guidelines carefully and promptly discuss any questions or concerns with General Counsel. If PRP agrees to the terms of these Guidelines, please sign below and return a copy to General Counsel. PRP may retain a copy for your files and the OAG will provide another copy via email along with the fully executed contract.

Once again, the OAG appreciates your agreement to represent the Secretary of State's Office on a pro bono basis and looks forward to the successful conclusion of this matter.
